

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant

Gurrieri Nero d'Avola

(Vittoria DOC)

Nero d'Avola

The Nero d'Avola is a wonderful expression of this ancient and famous grape of Sicily, where the grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning and went through a native yeast fermentation in stainless steel. The resulting wine has depth on the nose, with dark berries and bright barely-ripe fruits, hints of earth and spice, and a compelling note of something very Italian. The palate is fresh, with ample amounts of bright acidity, an approachable tannic backbone, and fruit that is expressive and driven to accompany the more earthy nature of the grape.

Bon Vivant