Sangiovese & Merlot

The Rosso Toscano is a delightful and clean style wine, and is Valentino's largest production at this small estate in the Orcia Valley. The hand-harvested fruit was left to naturally ferment separately in stainless steel tanks, and once complete, the Merlot was moved to first and second use French barrique for 6 months before it was combined with the resting Sangiovese to age another year together in tank. No filtration was done before bottling, and the result is complex yet very easy to drink. The finished wine is lively, showcasing red fruits, light spice, and earthy balance, and is a perfect compliment to red pasta sauces, braised meats, and roasted vegetables.
